The amount of the fee required for a credential application is determined by the filing date of that application: the date on which the application is turned in to an employing agency, institution of higher education, or the Commission office, as indicated by the stamp that the agency puts on the application. Applications filed on or after the effective date of the fee change (July 1, 1988) must include the new fee.

Fee changes for examinations apply to those examinations that are administered (given) on or after July 1, 1988.
